1. Veritaski's Bottle

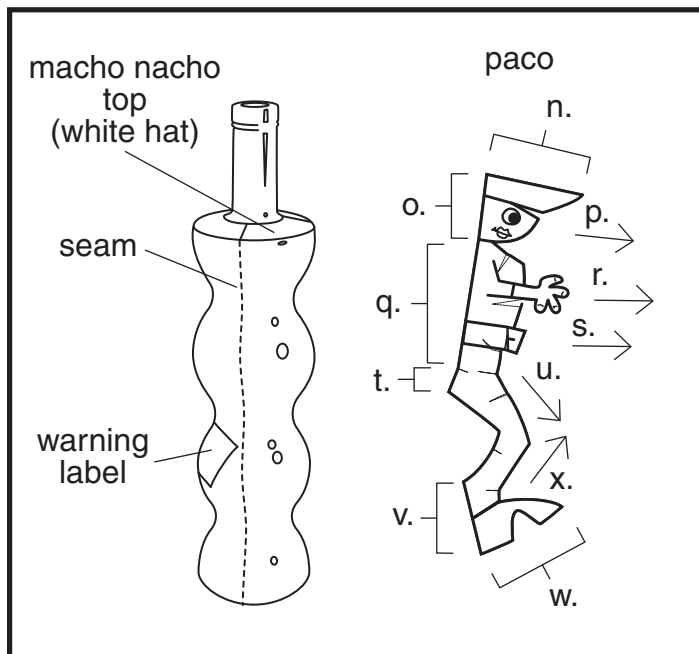

Orientation and Placement

Carefully notice that a glass seam runs longitudinally along the bottle bifurcating the front and back. You will use that manufactured line to guide the placement of Catalina and Paco.

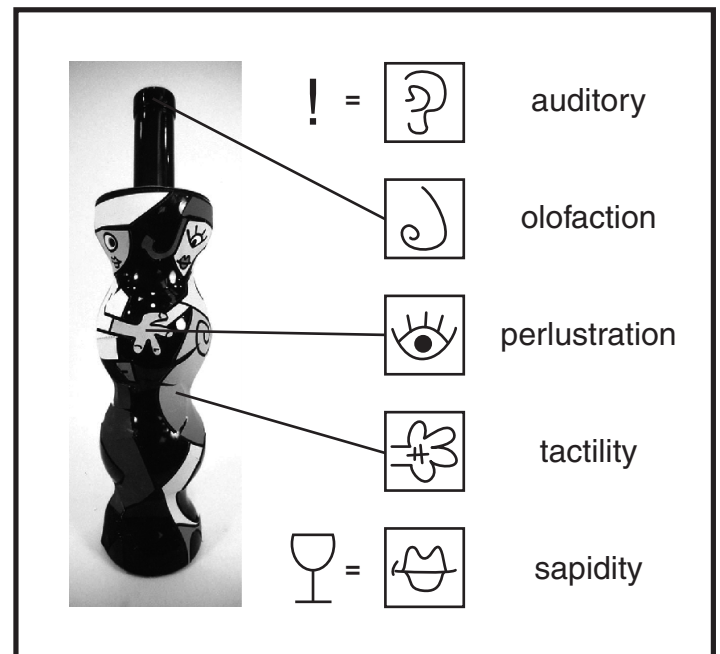

2. Princess Catalina First

Starting from the top of Catalina, partially peel away the decal backing. Carefully align the flat bracketed areas (a. and b.) with the glass seam and the Macho Nacho top. Next, use your thumb to smooth on the rest of Catalina's head (c.). Do your best to align the die cut splices (d. thru m.), aligning (a.,b.,d.,f.,h., &j.) with glass seam!

3. Paco Montoya Second

Starting with Paco's hat and head, partially peel away the decal backing. Carefully align the flat bracketed areas (n. and o.) with the glass seam and the white top of Macho Nacho. Repeat the process in logical sequence (p. thru w.). Keep the flat of Paco's back in line with the glass seam!

4. This is Macho Nacho

Thank you for helping to reunite Catalina and Paco. Macho Nacho is the first wine experience in Earth's history which entertains the full range of human senses. More artwork by Matthew Flansburg and Lit Fuze is available for view online at www.thelitfuze.com Cheers!
